Tiger Football Troubles Peak as McCandless Unexpectedly Quits

Less than six months ago, Princeton installed a new president and amounced a new athletic director. Less than two weeks into the new year, football Coach Jake McCandless announced his resignation. The personnel changes are deeply inter-related.

Irreconcilable differences of opinion between the forthright, uncompromising McCandless "and others in the University community" were given as the reason for his move. Those who see guidance of Princeton's football future in a different light than he included Rovce N. Flippin, Jr., who on January I succeeded R. Kenneth Fairman as Director of Athletics; President William G. Bowen, who formally replaced Robert F. Gobeen last summer; and Redmond C. S. Finney '51, co-chairman of the Trustees' Committee on Health and Athletics, Finney, now headmaster of the Gilman School in Baltimore, was a teammate of McCandless' on the undefeated Princeton team of 1950.

Understandably, none of the principals wishes to discuss the various points on which disagreement was sufficiently strong to result in McCandless' decision to leave while his contract with Princeton was still in force, Reportedly, it runs through the current year and another 12 months' notice is then required if it is not to be renewed.

While the announcement Lite Friday came as a surprise to virtually all members of the Princeton community, McCandless said Saturday that he had been giving the move serious consideration for the past two months. His coaching assistants and others close to the football scene became aware just after New Year's Day that such a development was at least a strong possibility.

Inevitably, the news was such that it could not be contained, and it broke about 9:30 Friday night in Chicago. The American Association of Football Coaches and the NCAA were in convention there, someone told an AP reporter that McCandless' resignation at Princeton was imminent and, following confirmation from Department of Public Information at Princeton, the announcement was initially made 1,000 miles away from the Princeton campus. Prepared stories disclosing the facts were ready to be mailed from here the next day.

In the absence of open discussion on the reasons for McCandless' withdrawal from the scene, speculation has been steady. His statement did say, "there have been different evaluations of my effectiveness," and it was detrimental to such evaluation that his first year as Dick Colman's successor was his hest.

In 1969, he converted Princeton's offense from the outmoded single wing to the T, lost two of his first lour games but fimshed by upsetting inbeaten Dartmouth and gaming a three-way tie for the by title. Thereafter, however, his won-lost record began to plumb depths intouched by Princeton football in a quarter-century, and after four years he was barely over the breakeven mark: 18-17-1 — ,514. The first-place tie was followed by two fifth-place finishes, and last full the Tigers were sixth and no better than 3-5-1 overall.

Philosophically, at least, Flippin (a six-time letter-winner in football and baseball) took exception to an absence of a winning tradition the day his appointment was announced last summer. Aware that the Tigers have not won from Yale in football since 1966, he remarked that he had not come to the Princeton athletic scene to preside over mediocrity. The theme is still uppermost in his mind as he begins the difficult task of selecting a new coach: in an informal press conference after Saturday's Penn-Princeton baskethall game, he declared, "The new coach will he committed to excellence,

If McCandless was far short of the mark achieved by his immediate predecessors (Colman and the late Charlie Caldwell intriguingly had an identical won-lost percentage of ,691), neither did lie have anything close to the ma-

School Budget Approved after Quiet Hearing

Princeton's $7,942,700 school budget received, to no one's surprise, a 7-0 "yea" vote from the school foard Tues day night after a somewhat diffident public hearing which lasted slightly over an hour. (Bo ar d members Philip Cruickshank and William Marvel were absent.)

The public will vote on the budget at the February 6 school elections. Board members will be elected, from Borough and Township, at the same time.

About 35 people were scat-fred over the high school uditorium to hear the pres, ntation of board member linthrop Pike, chairman of he finance committee, and Evelyn Geddes, a member of the committee.

Evelyn Geddes, a member he committee.

Mr. Pike pointed out that he budget is $101,800 more han a year ago, for a rise of about 1.3 percent. Why a rise, when enrollments are decreasing. Mr. Pike asked.

Some Figures. He cited cost reductions of $485,000 (staff reductions plus the switch to the Middle School), but pointed to $481,000 in salary and price increases. Salaries, in cidentally, account for 773 percent of the budget, he observed.

Peace March Planned

A silent "Inauguration of

A stient "Inauguration of Conscience" march will be held this Friday morning down Nassau Street starting at 11.30 at the Nassau-Vandeventer intersection.

The march, part of a nationwide pre-Inauguration Day observance, is spinsored by the executive committee of the Princetin Interfaith Council.

Marchers, in pairs, will walk silently down Nissau to Borough Hall. There, the names of Princeton's Vietnam war dead will be read, and there will be a brief ceremony led by Mayor Ribert W Cawley, Township Committeeman Abbot Low Moffat, William W.  "The reserve fund used to be zero But experts think a reserve of about 3.5 percent of the total budget, or one payroll, is about right That's about $400,000, for Princeton We're cantious about New Jessey's school tax situation and don't believe it would be prodent to appropriate $200,000 from the reserves toward '73.74 expenses."

"State law limits nivestments to time certificates with New Jersey banks, treasury notes and bills. With muncipal co-operation (Borough and Township) we've been able to torecast our cash-flow needs so we can make short-term investments. This has brought about $25,000 a year," (Ronald Novak, business manager, replied to that question.)

Late news from the state. Mr. Pike announced, gives Princeton taxpayers about a 52 break: an interpated droip in state aid of $38,800 won't occur, state officials now say

This means that the Borough taxpayer will pay only $22 more in sohool taxes on his $30,000, house instead of $23. In the Township, the owner of his $30,000 house will pay $20 more instead of 22 more. A bigger tax break goes to he owners of $40,000 and $50,000 homes: their tax increase is now $3 less than it was when the budget brochure was printed, Mr. Pike said.

PUBLIC HOUSING TABLED
Township Delays Decision.
Public bousing in the Township was debated again Monday night as Committee, in special session, held a public hearing before deciding whether to honor the Zoning Board's recommendation that public housing on Mt. Lucas-Ewing-State Road should be given a use variance.

After a four and one-helf

After a four and one-half hour, post-midnight session had ended, Committee tabled the question. A decision is expect-ed in about two weeks.

As Mayor Jay Bleiman pointed out, Committee didn't have to hold the hearing at all, Members might, legally, have locked themselves away from the public with the pounds and pounds of records inherited from Zoning Board hearings of summer and early fall, pondered, and then announced a decision.

But Committee wanted the public hearing. It was largely a repeat of arguments heard before the Zoning Board, And indeed, the attorney for the Prniceton Housing Authority. Thomas C. Jamieson Jr., the Housing Authority, its developer, Benedict Yedlin, repeatedly told Committee that it could legally consider only the Zoning Board record. No new evidence, Mr. Jamieson said, could be introduced.

That would supplement the existing Zoning Board record without giving the applicant, or anybody else, a chance to be heard, he said. Committee could, he suggested, postpone action until site plan review has been completed, but the applicant would have to agree. No way, Mr. Jamieson said promptly. He explained that although the Authority had never made any formal application to the Planning Board, it had described the housing project at an executive Planning Board session. Committee had other questions, Barbara Smoyer asked whether, granted the need for housing, Committee members had to vote on the merits of THIS proposal, if it felt this wasn't the best way?

Abbot Low Moffat asked whether Committee could vote "no" If it felt that the project would create a ghetto, rather than a socro-economic racial mix, and that this would be "socially undestrable".

Mayor Bleiman wanted to know why the 50-50 mix? Kar-in Slaby, executive director for the Housing Authority, said a previous Township Commit-tee had set the figures when it signed on the Authority to be its agent.

Mayor Bleiman, who had invoked the "spirit of love and mon-violence exemplified by Martin King Jr.," whose birthday it was, said he was uneasy about the prospect of 50 black families, living in a bloc, in the project. He was concerned, he said, about whether this would be disturbing for the black community and the families them selves.

Mrs. S'aby said tha', in the Borough at least, ten of the 36 families on a housing waiting list, are white.

When the opposition began to speak, Mr. Papier said at the outset that he didn't regard the hearing as legal. He has filed suit, charging that the Zoning Board's decision to recommend a use variance, was granted after the legal Conlinued on Next Page

If You Skate, Park Right

Township Chief Frederick Porter has urged all skaters at Lake Carnegie to park their cars in a legal man-their cars in a legal manner.

"Do not park in a no-parking area and when you lind a place, park properly," he said.

He reported that Township police during the weekend had to issue about two dozen teckets for ears that had been parked facing in the wrong direction. "It only takes a few minutes to turn your ear around and park properly. Otherwise it creates havoe," stated Chief Porter.

Joseph Moore will continue in his term of office as president of the board, with Mrs. Barhara White as vice-president, and Mrs. Phyllis Phox as the uter Albert Binds was cleeted secretary to full a vacane) due to a resignation and a k him questions.

Most important, R will give the children an opportunity to create in similar materials and techniques along with the artist in a true "working environment" both within the school, and at the studios of the Princeton Art Association at 3 Spring Steet.

Some of the processes to be introduced are various Printinsking techniques, Sculpture, and Macrame. Through these karning experiences, it is be neved children will be helped in their own creative efforts and strengthen their confidence in their own subtites.

The antists who are participating in the series are Linda White. Joan Needham, Pat Huekins, and Arm Weoffelk The coordination of the project has been undertaken by Mary Ward of the Princeton Art. Association and Ted John Witherspoon School.

has been cleaning rugs for over 60 yrs. One of the best methods for on location rug cleoning is

"DRY FOAM SHAMPOO"

- Dry foam does not soak into a rug
- Backing and pad never get wet
- No soap or clay base shampoo is ever
- Dry foam minimizes or eliminates shrinking
- Within hours your rug is back in service.

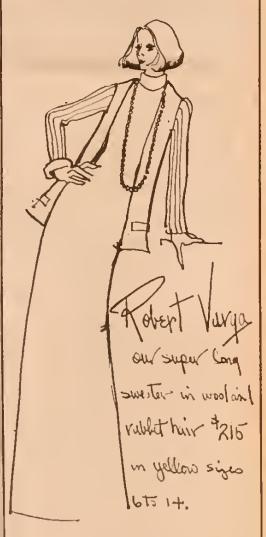

Why experiment? Go with the best, Both on location and in-plant cleaning avoilable.

Was "Black Comedy" Worth It?

But a spie of these edds the Princeton Community Players have pluckly gon ahead and created a short rive ring's entertainment by do not the play alone. And their production is entertaining, providing more spontaneous laughs than the script deserves thanks to the east and its director. Lea Cohen.

The blackness of the title is literal, in that when the stige is dark at the opening of the play, the lights are "on." Than a fuse blows, and as the stage lights come on, the setting is intended to be in darkness. And what httle plot there is begans a fuse blows, and as the stage lights come on, the section is intended to be in darkness. And what little plot there is begins the file plot there is begins a semistance of an English accent better than her fellow ac likeaue people, in spice of all their uptight silliness.

The young sculptor is played by Alian Salkin, who is up to all the calisthenies his role demands. Induced, with all of the pratfalls, bumping, and going about in the "darkniss", the play seems more like a tather contrived encounter session than a theatre piece. But Mr. Salkin performs admir ably, especially in a sequence where bes hand is caught be ween the floor and the under deep factor with its future father indaw. Ling on top of the crate.

Who thinks about buying a pool at this time of year?

Very, very smart people.

Smart, because prices are at their lowest right now. Smart, because if they buy now they're guaranteed of swimming all summer long. Starting Memorial Day!

And smart people are finding out all they can now before they make that final decision. Like finding out about all the exclusive Sylvan features that help reduce maintenance to a bare minimum. And generally discovering that all pools are not alike. Most smart people find that the Sylvan differences can make all the difference in the world.

If you're close to making your decision, do what most smart pool buyers do. Talk to Sylvan, And talk now!

Overealing your problem? Old you know that the rate at which food leaves your stomach may govern how hungry you feel? Fluids pass through the stomach quickly. Carbohydrates are somewhat slower, next come proteins, and the slowest of all are tats. Combinations of fats and proteins leave the stomach more slowly than either of these alone could do. Carbo-hydrates, containing a rich source of calorios, may leave the stomach quickly leaving one hungry but no thinner!

Two Borough School Candidates Give Views on Current Issues

(This is the first in a series of interviews with the six candidates for the Princeton Regional School Board, Mrs. Doig and Dr. I Audrew Shelpuk are running for the Borough's two seats on the board. In the next two weeks, TOWN TOPICS will interview the remaining two Borough cambidates and the pair of Township candidates.)

"I am very much concern ed about the quality and direction of education in Princeton For myself, I can say that the experience of ny three children over the past tenyears in Princeton schools has been very positive. We must provide the best education, not just for our own, but for all children in a widely varied population."

Mrs. Joan Do.g. s. a candidate for one of the Barcaghtwo seats in the February & school found election.

SAFETY BRIEFING: ICE SKATING AT LAKE CARNEGIE

Skate on the section of the lake between the two hridges. See the map above. Hours are 9 a.m. until dusk. Sail skating is permitted when crowd conditions and good judgment warrant it.

No skating (or walking) on the ice under the hridges—or on any other section of the lake—or on the nearby canal—or at night—alf for reasons of your safety.

Never Shate Alone

Children should be accompanied by a parent for reasons of supervision. The police or the Recreation Board cannot assume this responsibility.

Ice is sale for skating when the white flag is flown on the south side of the lake between the two hridges. Red flag means ao skating; the ice is too thin. You can also telephone the Princeton Recreation Department—921-9480, or tune in WPRB [103 FM] or WHWH (1350 AM).

Free parking is available at the lot east of Jadwin Gymnasium. Parking on Faculty Road is not permitted hecause a traffic snart there could hinder a rescue vehicle or lire truck from an emergency call. Red flags will be used to mark off weak spots in the ice in the skating area. To save another's life, don't allaw a prankster to remove the flags.

Ice boats, bicycles and motor-driven vebicles are not allowed on the ice. The only exceptions are the rescue boats of the Princeton First Aid and Roscue Squad, and the launches authorized for the University's crow program.

Accident Briefs:

Keep cool-send someone to call palice at 921-2100.

If there has been an ice breakthrough don't attempt to get too close to the person in the water.

Candidate Labeling Vtacked.

To the Editor of Town Imples:

Last week's article about the School Board elections shou I never have been printed in your newspaper. By Jahrling some candidates "anti-school," the reporter obviously attempted to create news rather than to report on it or analyze it. A subjective views of the news belongs on the editornal page, not in the news columna. I am sure that all the candidates, who were arbitrarily labeled to "unta-administration" and "pro-administration" were hurt by this kind of reporting.

Paease make the proper retractions and assign a more responsible reporter to the job of covering these elections. This community does not need more polarization than actually exists. Issues rather than personalities should be the focus of reporting on the School Board elections.

Fred Bauer Township School Board Candidate Has Been Doing His Homework

- He's been visiting schools... the High School, Community Park, Valley Road, John Witherspoon, Littlebrook, Johnson Pork and Riverside... attending classes... talking with students, teachers, administrators
- He's been walking door-to-door talking with parents about their school concerns
- He's been meeting with school board members past and present

WHAT HAS FRED BAUER LEARNED?

"Foremost, that there are many more positive things about our schools than negative, not discounting the fact that there is plenty of room for improvement. I believe for example:

- 1) We need to clarify our school goals. The expectations for any new program should clearly be stated at its inception. Programs already in effect should be re-examined regularly. Then, the community would have a better vardstick with which to measure school efforts.
- 2) We need more and better information about our schools. The administration and the board share the responsibility of keeping the community informed. Though we have talked a lot about communication, I fear too often school people have assumed the public informed when it is not. Repetition is essential. The proposed ombudsman committee idea would be a step in the right direction.
- 3) We need to build more bridges of trust between all people in our community. Good human relations is a part of education, too, and until we learn to be more tolerant with each other our children will suffer. It is possible to disagree without being disagreeable."

Here's the story about how the lamous Noire Dame "Victory March" was written . . . (This is the song that starts out "Cheer, Cheer For Old Notre Dame")
. . . It has become the best known toothall tune of all-time—and, actually, it was written by a priest, in 1909. . . One day at a game that season. Father Michael Shea decided Notre Dame should have an appropriate song . . At the time, they didn't have one . . After the game, Father Shea went to a piano in a nearby building, but someone was using the piano 50, Father Shea then went to the Sacred Heart Church Cheer For Old Notre Dame")

50, Father Shea then went to the Sacred Heart Church on campus and composed the song on the organ at the church! . . . His brother, John Shea, then wrote the words . . . And thus, loothall's most famous light song was written on a church organ.

Did you know lootball Did you know lootball fields were not always 100 yards long Irom goal line to goal line?... When tootball started, the field was 140 yards ... Then, they shortened it to 110 yards in 1880 ... The present rule making the lootball field 100 yards was not put into effect till 1912.

Little Help from Others No one else had any kind of after noon on offense, with sophmore Tim Van Bloomesteyn contributing sione good defensive play but two-fir seven shooting from the floor. A crucial steal he made proved valueless when his field goal was disallowed for a Penn foul before he shot, and he missed on a one-and-one situation. The score was tied at the time, and the Tigers never did manage to take the lead.

Rig Andy Rimol was 3 for 8 and John Berger 3 for 10 In contrast to the victors, who consistently worked the ball in close for layups, the Tigers shot stendily from the outside and suffered from their puor marksmanship.

Penn was in front from the start, leading by as many as eight during the first half before the layup by Manakas and a buzzer jump shift from 25 feet out by Burger narrowed the gap to 26-22. The Quakers then took further charge, increasing their lead to 30-26 with five minutes of the final period gone.

The 17-4 rally was marked by 11 points from Manakas as the Tigers took over the game's momentum. They drew even in 43 all, but that was their best effort. From a 51-49 margin with 2-45 to go, the Quakers hit stendily on one and one on puriting to game basse, such

There's in doubt that the score when the game was called will be official. PHS athletic director Norman Van Arsdalen said. A well known asketbull official timself. Van Arsdalen had watched the game from the stands. "An official can call a game at anytime." he said "Under the circumstances, I would have done the same thing. I am in complete agreement."

Trotman and Frescha had been at each other throughout the game. Trotman repeatedly objected to calls by Fressha and left the bench on many occasions to complain. In the overtime, when Trotman objected webcomently to mother call and pointed his finger in Fresella face, the referre slap ped a technical foul on Trotman. Two more baskets midway in the period by King were all the Little Tigers were to get in that round, however, as Ewing grabbed in 12 a lead PHS missed on no fewer than four shots under the basket in the first period, name of them admittedly easy.

In the second period, only the shooting of King (six points) kept PHS in the game, the gooms in the half. Ewing's Jim Fluellen had eight, while Tony Bailey, floor leader of the PHS team, was limited to a pair of foul shots.

At the start of the second half, consecutive baskets by Miller, Gil Spencer, Bailey and Leon Robinson brought

TIGERS SET BECORDS
In Beasing Temple, 43-37.
When a baskelball team goes min a stall despite the fact that it is trailing, the philosophical approach to the game takes on a strange hue. So slow was the scoring pace in Tuesday night's game in Jadwin between Temple and Princeton that the Tigers, down by 20 17 with a minute to go in the first hall, killed S3 seconds off the clock before they took a shot which they hoped would narrow their deficit to one.

They missed, but came hack to take control of the unusual, occasionally dull contest, in the final period. At the end of the evening, three records had been set, all for least points made.

After a contest scheduled a gainst Hill School away this Wednesday (January 17) after moon, the Blue and White will meet Chatham at home next Wednesday, January 29, Hill at home on the 31st South Orange on February 2 and Lawrenceville on Feb. 8.

A pair of victories last week brought the Panthers record up to 500 at 3-3. The last was achieved against Wissahickon Hockey Club on its own lee for the first time ever, and the second against the perennially weak South Orange Canadians at home.

Against Wissahickon, PDS fell behind on an early goal, but moved out to a 3-1 lead behine the first period ended on a pair of goals by co-captain Buzz Woodworth and one by Thm Hamid, the first goal of the season for the second line.

"They kept the pressure on us the rest of the game," said to coach Harry Rubon-Miller.

Students are chosen for the program for several reasons. A few are what Mr. Scott calls "limited ability" students, referred by the Special Education teacher, Others needed the money desperately. Others have been completely "out," so far as school goes.

"The program has provided another alternative for a student who hasn't found any thing meaningful in school, observes Mrs. Carolyn Adams, Teacher Aide who works with Mr. Scott. "One student who hadn't been attending classes now gets to school more regularly, the has to work. He has been very responsible about his duties, and has begun to go to some classes. "As long as I was in school anyway.

Is the way he put it."

for School Board

A dozen Princeton high-school students, out of cycle with school for any of a dozen reasons, have been gently pulled back into school life through a quiet, unpublicized work program.

"In-district Work Study" is its cumbersome name: John Scott, of the PHS faculty, is its dynamic founder and director. At the moment, 11 students—boys and girls, black and white—are enrolled. They work ten hours a week in various johs in the Princeton schools and they are paid $1.65 an hour, with a $16.50 paycheck every Tuesday. Money comes from the Special Services division of the school system.

This stately bouse of out native stone was built in the last century. An important house in 1850, it is today a unique opportunity to enjoy the construction of craftsmen who detailed interiors on the grand scale. A stone and cedar shingle harn and three and a balf acres accompany Ibis magnificient house.

A multi-faceted house of a multi-falented family. There is a congenial hitchen for the gregatious mood spilling into a large playroom. For quiet moments there's a very private study on the first floor. Not surprisingly also large sunny living and dining rooms. Then opsiairs under your roof are five bedrooms with two full baths. All in all wooderfully spacioos for only $67,500

A brand new colonial in convenient West Windsor. This house has the spaciousness for a growing family. There are five bedrooms and two and a ball baths in addition to living, dining, kitchen and adjoining family room complete with ireplace. Most attractively priced at $57,900.

Did you know that a clause permitting you to pay off a certain amount or all of your mortgoge principal at any time is a good thing to have time is a good thing to have in a financing contract? This means that it you have the funds to make larger payments at anytime during the life of your merigage, your lending institution will accept this arrangement. Be sure to inquire if your mort-gages will set up an agree-ment of this type without a ponalty fee of any sort. You may be able to save a sub-stantial amount of money in luture years!

There are many money sav-ing hints made available to clients of WALTER B, HOWE thouse of WALTER B, HOWE INC., I Palmer Sq., Prince-ton (924-0095), Pennington (737-3301) and W. Windsor (739-1100), Open 9-9, Sat. 9-5, San. 1-5, Homes to fit every personal preference and pockelbook.
